

THERE IS HOPE IN HONEST ERROR, NONE IN THE ICY PERFECTION OF THE MERE STYLIST

CHARLES RENNIE
MACKINTOSH

This quote feels very apt as we reopen these iconic tea rooms. We're extremely proud to be able to welcome guests once more to rediscover the stunning original design as it was intended when Catherine Cranston opened in 1903.

A lot has clearly happened in the intervening period, especially over these last two years of our restoration. Some of the finishing touches and facilities are still to be completed, we're a work in progress. As you look around you please put on your rose-tinted spectacles in the knowledge that there are things still to be done. Over the coming days and weeks, we'll be refining and enhancing.

As a 'Charitable Trust' and a 'Social Enterprise' we're committed to playing our part in helping to bring positive change to this community. We've worked closely with The Prince's Trust and Dumfries House to give new opportunities to many of our young team.

Ultimately, we hope you'll forgive us any honest errors and for now relax and enjoy the Mackintosh at the Willow experience.
